THE OTTERBURN TOWER
Country House Hotel and Restaurant

The Otterburn Tower dates back to a cousin of William the Conqueror coming north, in the 11th Century, to quell the troublesome Scots.

Throughout the history the "Tower" is mentioned and even today descendants of the D'Umfraville family visit the hotel. The hotel looks like a castle and the features of its history have been carefully preserved. Ideal for a wedding, conference, family reunion, or to explore rural Northumberland.

With its long history The Otterburn Tower is quite unique. The Garden Room with its Florentine marble fireplace and high ceilings has French windows opening to the lawns and our new lake. The 18 en-suite bedrooms are all individually designed. We have four posters and some suites, all with the comforts you would expect from an AA 3-star silver award hotel. Often the beef, lamb and game used to create our cuisine, will come from the owners Northumbrian farm at nearby Longwitton – true traceability!

We take pride in using local produce in the restaurant, recognised by our two AA Rosette award and we have recently renovated the old stables giving a new place to eat out and socialise – The Tower Inn and Stable Bar offers great value food and real ales.

We are a private hotel with a friendly team of staff that want you to make the most of your stay with us. We can offer you a relaxing break in front of our log fires with the best of food.

You can explore our new wood-land walk, the Otterburn Trail. Enjoy a picnic beside our lake. You may want to explore Kielder Water & Forest Park, Kielder, Northumberland National Park, the Coast & Castles and Scottish Border nearby.

Perhaps you would like to be active and learn a new sport, visit our talented artists, play golf, fish, ride, go racing.

Whatever your ideal holiday we hope you will choose to stay with us.
